

BRUCE TELLS NEED OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Strong Appeal For Cox By Independent Attorney—Mrs. Harrison Talks To Women

Before a splendid crowd in the Madison county courthouse Monday afternoon, Hon. Helm Bruce, of Louisville, and Mrs. A. M. Harrison opened the campaign for Cox and the Democratic ticket. Mrs. Harrison was given a most cordial welcome here by a committee of Democratic women of Madison county.

Mr. Bruce, an independent in politics, is supporting the Democratic ticket this year as he is a strong advocate of the League of Nations.

Among other things in support of this great policy Mr. Bruce said:

"The supreme issue before this country, a decision on which the civilized world is waiting for on November 2, is whether the United States shall enter a covenant with the civilized nations of the earth to assure peace or shall it on the other hand decline adopting the philosophy of Cain:

"I am not my brother's keeper."

"The issue between the two great parties," said Mr. Bruce, "is clear-cut. Whatever may be the language of the platforms the simple fact is that the Democratic party favors the league; the Republican party and candidate are against it."

Mr. Bruce reviewed the history of The Hague tribunal, which Candidate Harding has declared in favor of, as a means to promote world peace, provided "teeth are put into it."

"One thing is clear, however," said Mr. Bruce in speaking of dental operation, "the teeth will be false teeth."

Mr. Bruce then took up Article Ten which President Wilson termed the "heart of the treaty" and which Taft described in the following words:

"It is the heart of the league and it is the effort of the world of law-abiding nations to defeat forever the greedy purposes of militarism, whether German or any other nation."

This article, explained Mr. Bruce, protects against external attack and has nothing to do with internal troubles. It would have applied when Austria-Hungary invaded little Serbia and when Germany planted its heel on little heroic, devoted Belgium. Neither of these nations would have dared their invasion, he said, had the article been in existence and effect.

"It do not hesitate one moment," declared Mr. Bruce, "to declare myself in favor of an agreement to keep the peace of the world, an agreement which will operate to effectuate its purposes, in the first place, through the compelling power of a world-wide opinion; in the second place by the operation of economic measures, such as the boycott and the severance of all relations and cessation of all communications, thus accomplishing the isolation, stagnation and starvation of the recalcitrant nation, and, lastly, if necessary and only if necessary, by force, force to whatever extent is necessary."

Mr. Bruce claimed a deceptive statement made by Harding that The Hague tribunal is still functioning and will within a few weeks resume its committee session under the chairmanship of an American representative. "That representative," said Mr. Bruce, "is Elihu Root, who was appointed, and is acting by virtue of Article Fourteen of the League of Nations, which provides that the council shall formulate plans for the establishment of a court of world peace."

The most important articles of the treaty were taken up one after another and elucidated by Mr. Bruce, so that the simplest understanding the audience might comprehend it. He proved clearly that the league is an instrument through which wars will disappear, chiefly through the knowledge by any erring nation that it will feel first the moral and then the economic disapproval of the world long before war is resorted to.

He pointed out that the Monroe Doctrine was amply safeguarded by the treaty. Mr. Bruce showed how the principle of mandatories was adapted by the peace conference through the exalted moral vision of the president, preventing land-grabbing schemes of European nations.

Opposition to the adoption of every great document, said Mr. Bruce, is a matter of history. Patrick Henry and George Mason opposed the federal constitution. Thomas Jefferson was undecided for a time before he was won over.

"The constitution was ratified. It has had to be amended. On the second of November let us vote for the League of Nations by casting our

GOVERNOR COX AT MINNESOTA FAIR

(By Associated Press)

Minnesota State Fair Grounds, Sept. 6—Labor and agriculture were discussed here today by Gov. Cox, who declared the interests could both be served by the success of the League of Nations. He advocated measures to increase farm production, acreage and the labor supply and declared again for collective bargaining. His address was the first of three today on his visit to St. Paul and Minneapolis on his western tour.

Gov. Cox said that the League of Nations was not a political question, except when turned partisan uses. "Not only is the civilization of the world at stake, but the material welfare of our country is vitally affected," he said.

Labor also, he said, is vitally interested in the readjustment plans to be adopted. "Some think the answer to present difficulties lies in the adopting of plans of the past. I am not of that class," he said. "I think the solution is the dawn of new days when the human soul and human body shall commit for more than sordid dollars."

HAD PREMONITION OF HIS LAST PRAYER

Rev. Solomon Blythe, a well known colored Richmond minister, had a premonition that the prayers uttered by him at the annual meeting of the District Baptist Association at Berea Saturday, would be his last, and he so stated during the session. He made an extended and fervent prayer, offering supplication most earnestly. Saturday evening when reaching the home to which he had been assigned for the night he asked not to be awakened Sunday morning, stating he would prefer to rest. At a late hour Sunday morning, he did not make an appearance and an investigation found him in an unconscious condition in his room suffering from a stroke of paralysis. A physician was summoned and his condition was found to be precarious in the extreme. He was brought to Richmond and taken to the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary, where he has remained in a serious condition. His recovery is very doubtful.

Rev. Blythe is perhaps one of the best known and oldest resident Baptist ministers here, he having served for more than forty years. He is extensively well known here and in this section of the state where he has assisted in conducting meetings.

MORE STOLEN BOOZE FOUND IN LINCOLN

Prominent West End Farmer Arrested When Two Barrels Were Dug Up In Tobacco Patch

Danville, Ky., Sept. 6—Within two hours after Chief Prohibition Agent Paul Williams, of Lexington, left here with two barrels of whisky stolen from the D. L. Moore distillery, near Salvisa, Mercer county, a week ago and unearthed Friday near this city, thro some splendid work on the part of Deputy Marshal Rowan Sauley, three more barrels, evidently of the same vintage were found in a tobacco field about 7 miles south of here in Lincoln county, and brought to this city.

On secret information furnished the officers, the find was made by Deputy Agent Rowan Sauley, of Stanford; Assistant Deputy Collector Fred Ellis, of Louisville; Officer Charles Gibson, of Danville, and Sheriff M. J. Farris, of Boyle county, who drove to the farm of Collins' Moore, a prominent farmer residing over the Lincoln county line, where they located the liquor in the center of a tobacco field.

The ground showed evidence of having been recently disturbed and where several tobacco sticks protruded from the ground the "revenue" men began digging and soon uncovered three barrels of whisky, which were loaded into a truck and brought here.

Moore, on whose farm, the "buried treasure" was found, was placed under arrest but denied all knowledge of the whisky and said that it must have been buried there in the night while he was asleep. He was released on bond and will have his examining trial with in a few days.

This find makes five barrels of the fourteen barrels of whisky stolen from the Moore distillery which have been located in the vicinity of Danville. It is rumored that six barrels were originally brought here, but that one barrel of the consignment has been used in making highballs and cocktails for local consumption. Officers here have a "tip" that the other eight barrels taken from the distillery were concealed in Mercer county and efforts are being made to locate it there.

It is stated that Revenue Officer Frank Ellis, working out of Collector Hamilton's office at Louisville, has taken charge of the three barrels of whisky found in Lincoln county and by order of Collector Hamilton, it will be taken to Louisville to await final disposition.

The two barrels of Moore whisky, seized by Chief Prohibition Agent Paul Williams, of Lexington, was loaded on a truck and carried away to that city Saturday afternoon.

Fred O. March, 23, a graduate of Centre College last year and son of a prominent physician, was arrested Saturday. Officers say he made a complete confession of the plot.

They say that March confessed that Christ Reed and Lawrence planned the whole raid. March, it is said, borrowed the truck on which the whisky was hauled away from the warehouse from the Danville Buick Company on the pretense that he wanted to haul a party of friends to Lancaster and on to Dix river for a barge party, it was stated. He said there were two parties, one from Boyle and the other from Mercer, engaged in the raid; that his party got six barrels of the fourteen that were stolen, and the Mercer party the other eight, according to the officers.

March told how Lawrence met the net the distillery, while Young, his fellow watchman, was asleep and off duty. He (March) said that he walked into the distillery with his pistol in his hand and "made Lawrence awake. Young. He then asked for Young's pistol. He was told it was in a sideboard and March made Lawrence get it, according to March's story. March took out the loads and pitched it over to Young on the bed. Chris Reed, March said, was at the window with a shot gun, but kept out of sight for fear Young might recognize him, according to the officers' report.

They sawed the lock off the warehouse door, officers declare March said, and rolled out the whisky, rolling it for about the length of an ordinary city block Lawwell. March pleaded guilty, down the road to the trucks. They

THE BIGGEST AND BEST CROWD IN CITY FOR YEARS

"I never saw a much larger crowd and I am sure I never saw a more orderly and accommodating one," said Chief of Police Claude Devore, speaking of the big court day crowd, while pushing his way through a crowd of First and Main streets. "This is the friendliest bunch I ever met," he continued, as one "excuse me" after another greeted him in the mass of people on the sidewalks, owing to the street conditions being such as to accommodate but few. They all mingled like neighbors on a visit which is really true, which seemed to be necessary. There were no arguments or retorts with all the shoving. The sidewalks were filled from 9 a. m. as on a circus day, but it was a good-natured crowd.

loaded up and then returned to the warehouse where the watchmen were ordered not to leave the house for at least two hours. One of the trucks, driven by March, with Chris Reed on it, went south and the other accompanied by a touring car, went north. March did not know who was its driver, say officers.

Three miles out of Harrodsburg Chris Reed left the truck and got into his own car, which he had traded with Lawrence, according to some pre-arranged plan, and went on to his farm, it is said. All six barrels were rolled off the trucks, officers assert March said, into the weeds on Reed's farm and left them there for two days. March said he took his two barrels to Fox's house, and that two barrels were taken to Walter Reed's barn and buried where Sauley found them, it was said.

All the men are prominent in their communities. All save March pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Commissioner Lawwell. March pleaded guilty, upon the part of the patrons.

FIRE DESTROYS GORDON WAREHOUSE

Immense Stock Together With Horse Is Burned—Fight To Save Nearby Property

The main warehouse, stock room and part of one stable occupied by F. H. Gordon, on Estill avenue, just south of the L. & N. passenger station, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday night with an estimated loss of between $12,000 and $15,000, fully covered by insurance. The building, a frame structure, the property of Mrs. J. W. Christian, valued at several thousand dollars, which was a total loss, was not insured.

The flames were discovered at 11:30 o'clock and soon spread to other parts of the building, rendering the situation such as to cause the firemen who responded promptly, to have to fight the flames from a distance. Two lines of hose were laid, one from Estill avenue and another from 11th Hill avenue. The start gained by the fire prevented the saving of any part of it, and it was soon discovered that there would be great difficulty in saving the adjacent property.

A partial list of the contents of the building consisted of one or two auto trucks, one horse, large quantity of baled straw, some wheat, 4,000 bushels of blue grass seed, a large quantity of oats and hay. There were three horses usually kept in the building, however, it being Sunday night, they were allowed the privilege of the yard, and all but one of them were there at the time of the fire and were rescued.

It was with difficulty the buildings to the south were prevented from being destroyed, there being but two lines of hose, and after one box car partly filled with coal had become ignited on the railway tracks nearby, others were pushed from the fire zone. Residents on Estill avenue were very apprehensive regarding the safety of their own homes and were kept constantly engaged in drenching the roofs. Chief Ben Daugherty of the Fire Department, who was one of the first ones on the scene, directed the efforts of the firemen and the work is said to have been the best under the circumstances seen for some time. It is said a dozen fire engines could not have saved the building owing to the start it had gained, and for some time it was believed the office building to the north was doomed. A persistent bucket brigade, however, save the day.

The building, which was a two-story frame, contained such a quantity of inflammable material that the firemen worked at a great disadvantage. The structure had been built for a planing mill, but had been occupied by Mr. Gordon for the past four years as warehouse. It is rumored that a modern brick building will in the future occupy the site of the building destroyed.

The origin of the fire is not known. There are usual rumors regarding mysterious persons seen issuing from the building and for some time it was believed tramps had crawled into the building to spend the night, but there is no tangible evidence to this effect. There were no persons, according to Mr. Gordon, occupying the building. With the exception of the one horse, no stock was destroyed. The animal was inside a stall and an effort of the early arrivals was of no avail, owing to the intense heat.

Mr. Gordon had recently ordered a large quantity of cement, timothy hay, straw, and rosen rye seed, which will be here within a few days. He stated that had the fire been three days later, all this would have been consumed, since he had received notice to the effect that it had been shipped. The entire shipment had been sold to farmers of Madison county and they will be able to receive their stock upon calling for it within a few days. There are about 150 tons of coal in the yards and this was necessarily saturated with water from the fire hose and saved. Mr. Gordon said he would, beginning Wednesday morning, be ready to fill all orders both in the feed and coal lines, and would resume business on that date.

The establishment was one of the largest coal and feed centers in Madison county, and the facilities at hand for resuming business will prevent any great want upon the part of the patrons.

J. H. OLDHAM HAS BUSINESS PARTNER

With the view to improving his store, which will be enlarged, as well as the remodeling of the front and extending his business generally, J. H. Oldham has disposed of an interest in his hardware and farm implement store on Main street to Mr. Ora Hackett, of this city. The invoice, however, will not take place until later. It is the intention to have this completed as well as the store and building improvements by the first of the year, at which time the new firm will branch out in additional lines. The shelving will be extended to the ceiling and an attractive front to the building will be among the changes made.

Mr. Oldham stated that he was unable to attend to the business as it was, and was desirous of changing his building, as well as his store, and believes that with a business partner there will be an extension all around. This will add another to the already large list of Main street business houses to be improved during the next few months.

SHACKELFORD & CO. SELL THEIR STORE

D. B. Shackelford & Company, Main street hardware firm, announce the sale of their business to Messrs. J. F. March, of Richmond, and G. C. Cox, of Paint Lick, who will take possession of the local store with the close of the invoice, which will be started immediately.

Mr. Shackelford stated that his chief reason for selling was his desire to give more of his attention to his coal interests in Clay county. The store is one of the Main street establishments which has an extensive trade in the way of farming implements and hardware.

Mr. March has made Richmond his home for a number of years and is acquainted with almost everybody in the county. He was connected with the Richmond Welch company for a while and has splendid experience on the line he takes up. Mr. Cox was for some time owner of a store at Minae, Garrard county, and also has many friends in this section.

J. Y. ROBINSON DEAD

Mr. J. Y. Robinson died at Stanford Friday night, death being due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Robinson was formerly of Garrard county, having recently moved from that county to Stanford. He was a well known cattle raiser and farmer and was known throughout the country. He was a brother to Mr. Fleece Robinson, cashier of the Lincoln County National bank.

DEMPEY AND MISKE IN GOOD CONDITION

(By Associated Press)
Benton Harbor, Mich., Sept. 6.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, today staked the crown he won from Jess Willard 14 months ago at Toledo on his hard hitting prowess in a 10-round no-decision bout with Billy Miske, the St. Paul claimant, of the premier fistie honor. Dempsey was guaranteed a minimum of $50,000. Dempsey was the favorite, but with every prospect of a hard fight. Dempsey was apparently in perfect condition. Miske was likewise in excellent form.

With no decision to be rendered because of Michigan laws which prohibit it, the world's heavyweight title can change hands today only if Miske should score a knockout or Dempsey be disqualified for violations of rules governing the fight schedules. They will start at 3:30, Central time.

The city firemen, who were soon on the job, continued until almost 9 o'clock Monday morning, and had the fire subdued to such an extent there was no danger to adjoining buildings. There were huge sparks and parts of shingles dropped upon the roofs of nearby houses, only to be immediately removed by the alert volunteer firemen. The fire was the most disastrous visiting the East End for some months.

MAN'S LEG AND FOOT ARE BOTH SHOT OFF

But They Are of Wood and Cobbler Is Making New One For Young Mount Pursival

Dr. O. F. Hume had a surgical case Friday that puzzled him for a time, being man's foot and ankle that had been shot to pieces, but he soon figured out how to have it fixed, and took it to a cobbler's shop where there is a duplicate being made for the pedal extremity. The owner of the foot was pleased. He was impatient, for he could not walk until he got his "other piece" back, as he called it. The foot and ankle were of wood, and was shot to pieces by Thomas Alcorn some time ago while being worn by his brother-in-law, Mount Pursival, near their homes at Big Hill.

One load of buckshot from Alcorn's shotgun during a gun battle in front of his home riddled the wooden foot and leg of young Pursival, and the latter was unable to navigate. He could not have reached home, anyhow, for Alcorn is said to have shot again, this time aiming higher, with the result that he filled the left arm and shoulder as well as the left arm of Pursival with lead. The boy was taken to the Berea hospital, where some of the shot were removed. He later came to the local hospital, where he has been receiving the best of care since. A reaper machine took off his original foot and a part of his leg, and he managed to replace this with a wooden one, and when this one was shot off he was in a bad plight.

Alcorn is out on bond and Pursival is in bed until his foot and leg are ready for him. He was just getting able to leave the hospital when it was found his leg had been shot away, and a new one was necessary. He was carried in and out of the court room by friends at the preliminary hearing of Alcorn Friday morning.

WINCHESTER MURDER CASE ON WEDNESDAY

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 6—A crowd which packed the circuit court room to its fullest standing capacity was present Saturday morning at 9:30, the hour set for the examining trial of Rodney Haggard, charged with the murder of Ben Good on the street here August 27.

After a conference of attorneys it was decided to set the date for the examining trial for 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Many members of Lexington, appeared as attorneys for the prosecution.

Attorneys for the defense are Benton & Davis and Judge J. M. Stevenson. Judge Smith Hays and C. F. Wycoff.

The continuance was granted because of the absence of three witnesses, Chief of Police Woodson McCord, Nelson Strode and Clyde Gaines. Chief McCord is in a hospital in Louisville. Strode is away on vacation; Gaines was here Friday, but returned to his home in Oldham county before being served with a subpoena.

Attorneys for the defense stated that there is more to this case than what happened up on the street corner and that the killing was the culmination of a situation, the proof of which will require the presence of some witnesses from other counties. It was suggested that if an examining trial is held in the crowded court room many men who might otherwise be selected to serve as jurors if the grand jury returns an indictment would be disqualified.

County Attorney H. H. Moore said he thought 12 men could be found in Clark county who had not disqualified themselves by forming and expressing an opinion.

WHAT HARDING SAYS ABOUT UNIONISM

(By Associated Press)

Marion, O., Sept. 6.—Preaching a "gospel of understanding" between employers and employees, Senator Harding said in a Labor Day speech here, that although he believed in unionism and collective bargaining, he was opposed to "labor's domination of business and government as determined by any other class." He declared voluntary arbitration to be the ideal solution of labor troubles. He advocated joint committees of employers and employees, not to run the business, but to promote a mutual understanding.

He declared that no one could deny the laborer the right to quit his employment. He endorsed the Cummins-Esch law restoring the railroads to private operation, and assailed profiteering.

BIGGEST SALE DAY IN CITY'S HISTORY

Monday was one of the greatest sale days in the history of the city, if statements of old residents are to be believed, since the public square, despite the condition of the streets, was filled with wagons containing everything afforded by garden and fruit tree in season, down to tobacco sticks. There was a great demand for all produce brought to the city, and the train of wagons, heaped high during the early morning hours, were found to be practically unloaded and relieved of their burdens soon after the noon hour. It is estimated that 50 wagon loads of watermelons were brought to the city and sold during the day. Dealers said it was the best day they had ever experienced. The prices are said to have been very reasonable and patronage great owing to the large attendance at the stock sale.

The sale of cows expected at this meeting was not in evidence, it being said that owners were holding them for future market, owing to the excellent grass prospects.

COUNTY ROAD WORK IS BEING PUSHED

The county will soon be ready for the tarvia for the street extension and when this announcement is made there will be acquiescence upon the part of the street committee of the Richmond city council and the shipment for both city and county will soon be forthcoming. It is the intention to start the work as soon as the county is ready and this will be in the near future. Upon the arrival of the tarvia the machine and the men will be here ready to do the work, which will be taken up at once in order to have it finished before the arrival of cold weather.

Additional material for the streets of the city is reported as arriving assure no further delay. A embargo from the north and south and this will assure no further interruption upon the part of the street paving force owing to a lack of material.

The county work is being pushed with all possible haste, and it is expected the tarvia work will be started in the city before that of the county is under way. It is reported the various road improvements from the northern to the southern part of the county are progressing since the recent rains, and all will be finished within a reasonable time.

EXTRAORDINARY FILMS

TO BE HERE THIS WEEK

One day Sari was a ragged beggar and romping over the streets of Stamboul, Constantinople's vilest suburb. The next day found her arrayed in the finest clothes money could buy in the marvelous bazaars of the Turkish capital. She was to be married to the wealthiest sheik in all the sultan's domain. She was to become the prime favorite in the most famed harem of the Moslem world—the world of her upbringing. Why did she object to this fate—an honor coveted by Turkish maidens of every rank? How did she escape from the powerful sheik, her intended husband? The answer to these questions form a series of most dramatic incidents ever written upon the page of romance. They were chronicled by H. H. Van Loan, a noted novelist, in "The Virgin of Stamboul." See it at the local theaters Tuesday and Wednesday, September 7 and 8.

"Hands Up" refers to Rea Nye's remarkable gift for palm reading which she does from the stage with a facility that baffles the most skeptical. She readily answers any number of written questions without hesitation and with perfect ease and accuracy, all of which creates considerable excitement and in many instances causes much laughter at the expense of some individual in the audience. Rea Nye has a sunny and winning personality and makes friends with her audience in her first appearance. At a certain chosen performance during her engagement Rea Nye answers questions and reads the palms of ladies only and on Friday night she will give a forecast of the future for the next five years of this city.

FIREMAN FORCED TO GIVE UP JOB

Rowe Says He Was Unable To Work For a Whole Year Before He Took Tanlac

"I have gained nineteen pounds in weight by taking Tanlac and I am like an entirely different man" declared French B. Rowe, 451 McGowan street, Akron, O., who was formerly a fireman on the Southern Railway between Atlanta and Birmingham, but who is now employed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron.

"For three years I suffered from about as bad a case of stomach trouble as anybody ever had and finally had to give up my job as fireman on the Southern Railway on account of bad health. My appetite was very poor and even the little I did manage to eat began to sour on my stomach almost at once and caused me to become badly nauseated. Then, too, I suffered with such terrible pains in my back and chest that often I would have to get up at all hours of the night and walk the floor. In fact I was simply a physical wreck. I spent about all the money I had for medicines, and as nothing did me any good had about given up all hope of ever getting well. I went to different parts of the country trying to improve my health and for a whole year had been unable to do a single day's work.

"A friend advised me to try Tanlac and one bottle of this medicine did me more good than everything else I had taken put together. While I have only taken four bottles I hardly know myself, for I have a better appetite than I ever had and can eat just anything I want without suffering from it a particle. Those terrible pains have left my back and chest entirely and I sleep like a child all night long. I am working every day now and am the happiest man you ever saw over my restored health. I have written to all my friends in Birmingham, Ala., telling them how Tanlac has made a well man of me, and I never miss an opportunity of telling others about it. Several of the men at the shops where I work are taking Tanlac on my say-so, and they all say it is doing them a world of good, and I never intend to be without Tanlac again as long as I live."

Tanlac is sold in Richmond by Stockton and Son; in College Hill by Ginter Brothers; in Berea by Welch Department Stores. It

SIDE STREETS ARE CROWDED AS PARKS

Richmond streets intersecting with Main street, were never in such demand as Monday, when a record-breaking attendance was recorded at the court day proceedings and the stock sales. Owing to the fact that Main street could not be used for parking space, every available inch of space apparently on other streets running parallel, as well as those intersecting Main, were filled. The northern section of the city is said to have been called upon for parking space, an dit is estimated that a greater number of automobiles than ever before, were in the city Monday.

The bulk of the work on the farm, with the exception of tobacco, has been finished and this is given as one of the reasons for the exceptionally large crowd.

The placing of the material for Main street paving continued, the Lampton & Burks company stating they only wanted enough room to get around, and the rest was given over to the visitors from all parts of the county. All necessary material for the concrete for Main street will soon be delivered, and this work will be finished as rapidly as possible. The blocking of some of the streets, however, is necessary to prevent accidents.

IN COUNTY COURT

There was a big list of cases in the court of County Judge W. K. Price which were given attention at the usual time Monday, and while many will be disposed of, it is believed, during the day, there will be a number of continuances, owing to witnesses being out of the city. It is believed the calendar will be cleared Monday evening of cases to be heard this session.

After he had finished there was a difference.

COURT DAY OPENS WITH BIG ATTENDANCE

Monday, Labor Day and court day, recorded a busy epoch in the history of Richmond, since there was a general resumption of business for the week, and the various pursuits followed as they were during the Fourth of July court day. Indications at an early hour Monday were that there would be a good horse sale, and the statement that banks and other business establishments would be open as usual, brought a large number of people from the country.

Horses were in evidence early, and sales, which started at the usual time, were not productive of high returns in the way of prices, however, it is usual, many holding off until competition brings about more sales and buying becomes general. The bulk of the selling took place on First street, between Main and Water streets, as a result of the condition of the up-town streets, but there was no hampering of business.

A large number of local tradesmen went out of the city where Labor Day was observed, although the exodus is said to have been smaller than last year, when there were a number of celebrations in observance of Labor Day in nearby cities. There are many representatives of union labor in the city of Richmond, although they prefer to work here to going to some of the greater cities.

The proceedings of court day in the domicile of County Judge W. K. Price, together with the business places open and the sale of stock rendered the day a busy one.

ANNUAL REPORT ON TOBACCO INDUSTRY

Washington, Sept. 6—The annual report of the tobacco industry in the United States for 1919 will shortly be issued by the Director Sam L. Rogers. The bulletin assembles the quarterly reports of stocks of leaf tobacco as published by the Bureau of the Census. The object of the bulletin has been to assemble in one publication the statistics for the various phases of the tobacco industry and to present them in convenient form for ready reference.

The bulletin contains statistics which may be surprising to those not fully conversant with the industry. In 1919, according to the Bureau of Crop Estimates, there were 1,901,200 acres planted in tobacco, while the production from the crop of 1918 amounted to 1,439,071,000 pounds. There were imported during 1919 leaf tobacco and tobacco products to the value of $36,485,035, while the exports of leaf tobacco were valued at more than $250,000,000. The combined production of cigars registered in factories and in bonded manufacturing warehouses was approximately 55,000,000,000, and of chewing and smoking tobacco and snuff 427,000,000 pounds. There were 16,211,769,000 cigarettes exported during the year, leaving 39,000,000,000 factory ymade cigarettes for consumption in the United States. The exports of leaf tobacco during 1919 amounted to 765,913,165 pounds greatly exceeding those for any prior year. The revenue collected during the year amounted to $205,000,000. Of this total North Carolina contributed $67,140,000, New York $34,596,000, Virginia $12,644,000, Pennsylvania $12,012,000, Missouri $10,868,000, Ohio $10,859,000, and New Jersey $10,226,000.

MADISON BURLEY GROWERS ACTIVE

The petitions by mail for membership in the Burley Tobacco Growers Association, formed at Lexington some time ago, are being received by Madison county producers, and many are said to be responding, or opening correspondence with a view of getting a better view of the object and requirements of the association. Many, it is also stated, will become affiliated with the enterprise in the interest of tobacco and while there have been no special meetings called by Madison county growers in the interest of the association, there will be a big representation here.

The details of the previous meetings, together with data treating upon the object of the organization are given in the mailed circulars, and they are being received with a high degree of encouragement, it is said. While for some time it was believed this county would be extensively represented in the association, the first meeting in this part of the state being held here, interest seemed to lag for a time until the organization was perfected, when there was a revival resulting in the present action.

NITROGEN IS USED FOR TOP DRESSING NOWADAYS

Experiments made have shown no gain in yield from the use of commercial nitrogen applied on wheat in the fall, according to the latest report made by the director of the Kentucky Experiment Station, Lexington. Profitable gains have been made from the use of nitrogen as a top dressing on wheat where wheat follows corn. This application should be made in the spring as soon as growth begins and should be at the rate of approximately 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda or its equivalent, depending on the character of the soil and the condition of the wheat.

"And whom did you vote for, Miss Sophy?" "Well, you see, the republican was simply stunningly good-looking. Nothing could be fairer than that."—Life.

HUNTING SEASON DRAWS BIG DEMAND FOR GUNS

W. H. Grider has much confidence in the hunters of Madison county especially, since he has received a number of invitations to attend shooting matches, in order to satisfy himself there are no violations of the law—a fact that sets many of the hunters tight with the game warden.

"I have an invitation first here and there," said Mr. Grider, whose duties since his promotion take him to various parts of the state where there are violations reported. He remarked Monday that thus far he has not heard of a single violation of the dove law, which is becoming very extensive—a surprise to himself, as well as those selling ammunition. Merchants who deal in guns and ammunition say the call has been the heaviest in years and one of them stated he believed it was because of the good crops and that many of the countrymen had been so hard at work they decided to take a few days off and go hunting.

Miss Katie Mae Russell has returned from Louisville, where she has been visiting friends this week.

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY MORNING

The county high schools at Union City, Kirksville, Waco and Newby opened Monday morning with good attendance and a full quota of instructors, which pleased the members of the county school board which has experienced considerable trouble this year in the selection of instructors. Many of the buildings have been improved during the close and are in good condition. It is believed the facilities at these schools are better this year than ever before and the term will be a very successful one. Considerable attention is being attached to the schools this season owing to the new educational laws.

METHODISTS HISTORY TOLD AT LEXINGTON

Kentucky Church Celebrates Its Centennial During Conference There

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 4.—Friday noted the largest attendance of the week at the Kentucky conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, which celebrated the centennial of its establishment with addresses by Dr. W. E. Arnold, Louisville; Dr. J. L. Clark, Mt. Sterling; and Dr. H. C. Morrison, of Ashbury College. The celebration followed the usual routine session of the conference Friday morning and continued throughout the afternoon.

Dr. Arnold spoke on "Beginnings of Methodism in Kentucky," telling of the first conference held in the state 130 years ago and the first Methodist church erected in the state between Danville and Perryville. He told of the establishment of the "Limestone Circuit" on which Maysville was one of the points and of the first Kentucky conference held at the Master-son home, five miles out of Lexington on the Winchester pike.

Dr. Clark spoke of the founding of Methodism in Kentucky by Francis Clark in 1783 in discussing "The Kentucky Conference's Contribution to Methodism." He told of the appointment of the first missionaries in Kentucky by Bishop Asbury in 1786 and of the organization and development of the church as the state grew in population and importance. Dr. Clark reviewed the schism in the church and its colleges over the question of the slavery agitation and the taking over of Transylvania by the conference of 1842 to 1848. He also reviewed the history of Kentucky Wesleyan college, founded at Millersburg in 1826 and moved to Winchester in 1880.

Dr. Clark reviewed a long list of Methodists who have gone from Kentucky to become leaders in other states of the union and to missionary fields abroad. He recalled the length of the services of the Methodist women of the conference in missionary and other fields of church work and paid special tribute to Miss Belle Bennett, of Richmond, president of the Woman's Missionary Society.

At the morning business session the Rev. E. L. Couthgate, of Georgetown, was recommended for superannuation. The characters of the ministers of the Covington district were passed. S. T. Fitch was appointed a student to Drew Seminary, G. W. Young as Anti-Saloon League lecturer, Dr. H. C. Morrison as president, and John Paul as president of Ashbury College and C. C. Fisher as president of Millersburg Female College.

The Rev. J. W. Harris, of Hinton, and the Rev. D. E. Bedinger, of Erlanger, applied for superannuation. Clarence Wilson and Clarence Sharrow were admitted to the conference on trial.

LEXINGTON IS CHOSEN FOR LEGION MEETING

Lexington won the 1921 convention of the American Legion of Kentucky at the afternoon session of the Department of Kentucky at the Seelbach Hotel, Louisville. Ashland, which made a strong fight, withdrew before the taking of the vote was completed. Delegates from the contesting cities had made speeches prior to the balloting.

Adopting the recommendations of the Newspaper Committee, reported by Sam H. McMeekin, committee member, the convention decided not to establish a weekly paper for the Legion in Kentucky.

Harry D. Rice, of Richmond, was on the newspaper committee.

SWIFT'S PRODUCE REVIEW
Butter production is still heavy for this time of year, owing to good pasture conditions. This fact and the importations of foreign butter have given the market a little more than can normally be consumed, bringing about lower values. Values for the next few months probably will depend largely on the amount of butter imported, as the production in this country should show a gradual decrease.

Egg production, as is usual at this time of year, is falling off rapidly and as the demand is very good, the dealers are now drawing freely from their storage stocks. These at the present time are lighter than for the same period last year.

Poultry is moving in larger volume and prices are naturally somewhat lower. There is a good demand at the present time, but with increased offerings, which are natural at this time of year, indications for future market are downward.

Mr. A. M. Thacker, of Winchester, was with Richmond friends last week.

NEW LAW DEVELOPS ADMIRABLE TRAITS

Folks of the Hills Forced To Send Children To School For the First Time

The new school laws have brought some new developments which are interesting in many ways. The compulsory educational law was the means of bringing into school for the first time many children who had never been within the confines of a school room. Some of them were ten years old, and some older. This serves to illustrate the power of the law and the abiding faith of those of the rural sections, when they realize that to disobey means prosecution.

This, however, is but one of the facts. It has been demonstrated that the desire of those peoples of the hills, of which there is much still, and much of this against them, and that they are in many ways law abiding. It is being shown every day by that part of the lay giving pupils between the ages of 12 and 14, inclusive, special permission to be absent from school, when this permission is asked of the attendance officer. There were many of these officers surprised upon finding themselves confronted by people who were not supposed to know the law, petitioning for the absence of this boy or that, in order that he may assist with the work at home. There have been many cases of this character, and it is probable there will be others, all of which proves the desire of the average citizen—even those of the hills—to obey the law in many respects. In more densely populated sections, where all are familiar with the law, there are many infractions.

These are wifful. Those of the hill folk are not generally. Much credit is due them. That for the parents. This for the children: Teachers say some of the belated children who know not their first duty elicit sympathy by a lack of bashfulness; rather they maintain an air denoting responsibility and eagerness. When shown their duty they do it cheerfully and in a painstaking manner, teachers say. They do not fret at the hours of confinement, unusual for them, but follow the simple tasks, which seem to occupy their minds; and they learn. There are already interesting stories being told at remote homes by the children who have been in school less than a month, but the longest period of their existence. They are to be admired, assisted and encouraged in every way. Their spirit and obedience is gaining for them a recognition that will extend beyond the confines of the hills and they will be enabled like many others who have gone forth and still go forth into the world representing character together with qualifications that will cause the great old state to be given attention. For character, ability and courtesy are qualifications pre-eminent and form a trio of admirable traits that go far toward placing the possessor in a favorite starting place in the race of life and enable him to cope with the practical and progressive movements which terminate in great things being done.

NEW MANNER OF CURING TOBACCO

In the annual report of the Kentucky Experiment Station which is just off press, Director Thomas Cooper writes:

"For several years past the Experiment Station has been attempting to determine a method of curing burley tobacco by artificial heat. Enough work has been completed to show that as high grade of leaf can be obtained by fire-curing at a relatively low temperature as by air curing, thus eliminating completely the danger of house burning.

With the increased importance of the burley tobacco industry, it is probable that the use of artificial heat may be advantageously resorted to more generally. This would hold true especially in seasons when climatic conditions are unfavorable for curing. During the past year, curing experiments were conducted with dark tobacco as grown in western Kentucky. Export tobaccos of this region are open-fire-cured, giving them a strong flavor of creosote.

CURB AND GUTTER WORK

The curb and gutter work on East Main street is progressing very satisfactorily and will soon be completed. This thoroughfare has been opened to the public again and, it is believed, will not be closed again until the pavers reach that vicinity.

Other streets opening on Main which have been closed for some time have also been opened and improvement work in the eastern part of the city is progressing rapidly.

The Certain-teed Guarantee as a Basis for Estimating Roofing Cost

The Certain-teed guarantee provides a basis for estimating the approximate cost per year of your new roof. Certain-teed Roofing, Number 3 Heavy, is guaranteed for fifteen years. It usually lasts longer.

Taking fifteen years as the assured life and dividing the unusually low cost of Certain-teed, as compared to most modern types of roofing, by this figure, you readily see how economical Certain-teed is.

The light and medium weights of Certain-teed are also guaranteed, five years for the former and ten years for the latter.

In addition to its durability, Certain-teed is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof.

And it costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain than any other type of good roofing.

See a Certain-teed dealer about roofing. If he hasn't enough of the weight you want in stock he can quickly get more from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or distributing center.

BIG MEETING OF COUNTY TEACHERS

No Fines Assessed As Yet But New Order To Be Issued In the Near Future

Never has there been such interest displayed at the regular monthly meeting of the school teachers of the county as that which characterized the second monthly meeting Saturday at the court house which, despite the weather, was much greater than usual. There were talks made by various teachers and an impromptu program rendered that made the session one of great enthusiasm and interest generally.

A new feature of the session which was called off during the afternoon, owing to the inclemency of the weather, was the description of the school openings of the county by the teachers, arranged by Rufus Click, of the Dozier school, who had charge of the meeting. One of the most interesting of these was that of Paris B. Akin, in stating his experience during the two months he officiated as truancy or attendance officer. This was very instructive from start to finish. Mr. Akin stated that he had resigned in order to devote more of his attention to the school proper of which he was in charge, and while the attendance was greater than usual for this time of year, there were some who were not obeying the law, although no fines had been assessed as a result. This will follow, however, when the new officer is installed and there is no recognition of his official instructions. He stated there had been repeated and timely warnings issued and the law would be followed to the letter, if many arrests and convictions has to be made. It is the intention to make an example of the first ones disobeying the order, after it has been issued by the new county officer.

County Superintendent Ben F. Edwards, who has been ill for the past three weeks, was in attendance at the meeting and heartily endorsed the manner of conducting the meeting as did many others who were attracted through the enthusiasm shown. The next meeting will be held one month hence.

MORE CARS NOW; MATERIAL ARRIVES

The first "big" shipment of lumber for Richmond for some time has arrived and considerable building which has been held up on account of the inability to get material will be resumed immediately. Much of the timber is wanted for tobacco sheds and barns, of which there are many being built in Madison county, and the owners are apprehensive regarding the safety of their tobacco in the near future without proper housing. Local contractors who have been busy for some time to get lumber were notified they would be accommodated at once, since there is apparently an increase in available cars.

This is said to be the case in the way of coal, if the coal could only be procured. Richmond is said to have received more than the usual production for this time of the year in the way of loaded cars. However, the great amount of building is creating a demand for the largest number of cars ever reported here. This is shown by reports of the railway, which officials state Richmond is becoming more and more important each week. The building, which started during the early part of the year, continues unabated and there has been no cessation, except as a result of the lack of material. It is estimated there are 50 buildings now under construction that must be finished before the arrival of frost in order to save the tobacco crop.

MEMORIAL WINDOW FOR MRS. HENDERSON

The window committee of the First Presbyterian church, has accepted the offer of Mr. F. W. Henderson, of Texas, to put in to the memory of his wife, Margaret Miller Henderson, the beautiful window over the entrance to the church. It seems peculiarly fitting that the lovely girl baptised in her infancy into its membership whose later life blossomed into rich religious service in a distant state and whose people here for generations been pillars in the Richmond church, should have a permanent memorial in it.

Mrs. J. W. Walton and two sons, Emmett and Leonard, of this city, will return to their home on Water street Sunday from Hamilton, Ohio, where they spent two weeks with her mother and sisters.
